Young Farmer Hard Hit By Sudden Fire

Unexplained Blaze Takes
Heavy Toll At East
Gwillimbury Farm

Striking without warning, devastating fire destroyed two barns owned by Mrs. C. E. Brandt, Aurora, on the farm operated by Wm. Newfeld on the second concession of East Gwillimbury a few miles north of Newmarket last Friday a little after 9 a.m.

The farm is the second north of the Sharon road on the east side of the road. Mr. Newfeld is well known as a softball player. The total loss was estimated in the neighborhood of $12,000. The two barns, which had been recently remodelled, with steel put in, and milking machines, hot and cold water, and water bowls installed, and made modern in every respect, were only partly covered by insurance.

Mr. Newfeld had very little insurance on the contents and lost heavily. He lost a new tractor which he had just purchased for $1,200, a threshing machine, a hammer-mill which he had just bought for $300, one pig, between 1,200 and 1,400 bushels of mixed grain, 700 bushels of wheat, between 50 and 60 tons of hay, 35 loads of unthreshed grain, and 88 bags of bran which had just been put in for the winter.

Mr. Newfeld and some men were cutting straw in the barn. There was a man on the cutting-box and men on the straw stack. Nobody saw how the fire started, whether it was from the cutting-box or a spark from the tractor. "I went up to the house and when I came back there was fire," said Mr. Newfeld. "It started so quickly that the men couldn't get the belt off the machine. We got five cows, two bulls and four horses out all right. I think a pig was burnt."

Mr. Newfeld has 51 head of cattle to feed and had the barns filled up, pretty well ready for the winter.

The cow stable was 90 by 40 feet, and the horse stable was 60 by 26 feet.

School Teachers Meet In Newmarket For Annual Convention Today

Public and separate school teachers of York inspectorate No. 1 gathered in Newmarket today for their annual convention.

Their morning session was in the high school auditorium. At lunch, served by the Cherokee club in Trinity United church, they heard Taylor Statten, Pickering College, speak on "The Problem Child and How to Deal with Him."

The afternoon session took place at the Stuart Scott school, where Principal H. A. Jackson and staff gave vocational demonstrations.

"It is not enough for a teacher to know the lesson," said Rev. D. H. Woodhouse, of St. Andrew's United church, Markham. "He must know the whole background and how the lesson fits into it. He must be able to make it interesting."

"Our world isn't suffering from a lack of clever men but it is suffering from a lack of honest men, men called to service."

Mr. Woodhouse said that by using their wonderful opportunity to bring out the best in the children teachers could bring "new freedom to a world that sadly needs leadership."

"The program this morning was started with a religious service," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd. "That is as should be. If we were in Russia, that wouldn't have happened. The communists are trying to get control in this country. They work under the guise of a youth movement. Unfortunately, they are gaining too much headway among our educated people."

Dr. Boyd told how at 18 years of age he was teaching a class of 80 children, with an average attendance of 60. "I had been prepared with two years of high school and three months of normal," he said. "I had been taught to look for genius."

"In your classes some are in the lower half and some in the upper half. If you could look at those children at the age of 50, you would find some of the low fellows running factories and some of the high fellows working for them."

D. O. Mungovan of the high school staff welcomed the teachers to the high school on behalf of Principal J. B. Bastedo, who was suffering from a cold. George D. Wark, chairman of the high school staff, said: "I too consider your profession a noble one. I wish you a profitable and enjoyable day."

President E. Webster was chairman. Others on the platform included John G. McDonald, Aurora, secretary-treasurer, and Inspector W. H. T. Mooney. I. Harris led community singing. Gerald Rutledge was at the piano. Miss Madeline Young, of Toronto normal school, spoke on "English."

At a quiet ceremony on Monday evening, Lillian Jane, eldest daughter of Mrs. Roy Watson of Newmarket and the late Mr. Watson, became the bride of Alfred John King, of Toronto, youngest son of Mr. Thomas King and the late Mrs. King.

Rev. C. E. Fockler performed the ceremony at the United church parsonage, Keswick. The couple were attended by Miss Claire VanZant and Mr. Joseph Pollock of Newmarket.

A reception for immediate relatives and friends was held later at the home of the bride's mother, immediately after the reception the happy couple left by motor for a trip through eastern Ontario and the United States. Upon their return they will reside in Toronto.

Miss Watson was formerly a member of The Era staff.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mrs. George Hesp, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slater, Mr. and Mrs. James Ireland, Mr. and Mrs. William Kinnaird, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Gimblett, Mr. Thomas King and Mr. Edgar Willis, all of Toronto.

FIND BY-LAW COVERED ONLY PART OF JOB

More Sewers At North End
Recommended By Town Engineer

The town council learned with surprise Monday evening that sewers being constructed on Simcoe and Niagara Sts. will not cure the unsanitary conditions originally complained about by Dr. J. H. Wesley, M. O. H.

Two additional stretches of sewer on Niagara St. and behind Ontario St., totalling 555 feet, costing $750, are needed to take care of all householders and to do away with all septic tanks, W. B. Redfern, town engineer, stated.

"We will have to go through all the legal formalities again," said N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor.

"Who drew up the by-law?" asked Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales.

"I did, but I just did it with information given me by the M. O. H. and the engineer," said Mr. Mathews.

"We are away below our estimated $3,000, and we will be able to do the additional work within the original estimate," said Councillor Wm. Dixon, chairman of the road and bridge committee.

"But it has to be done legally," said Mr. Mathews.

"It was stated that the residents were willing to sign a petition. Mr. Mathews said that a petition would make further advertising unnecessary."

The engineer, Mr. Redfern, said that he had received instructions concerning Simcoe and Niagara Sts. only, and that he had previously given the council estimates on the cost of the additional jobs now found necessary.

Declaring that it was to do away with the septic tanks (the work had been undertaken, Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd insisted that the additional work be done.

Twenty-nine meters cleaned and repaired by the water and light department's own staff was reported to the town council by Councillor W. W. Osborne, chairman of the water and light committee.

"I have had a lot of complaints from people who were forced to pay for two months electric light at once," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd. "But the purpose was to enable the men to repair our own meters. This is a saving to the town."

Wm. Curtis said that he had read that the council had turned down improvement of the road into his property behind the Christian-Congregational church.

"I came tonight to see what really can be done," he said.

N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor, reported that he had not investigated the legal status of the right-of-way but would do so before the next council meeting.

Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales asked Mr. Curtis to attend the next meeting.

Liquor Appeal
Is Dismissed

C. Frank Moore, Toronto, acted for the appellant. N. L. Mathews, K.C., Newmarket, acted for the crown.

"Sweeping Reductions" Opposed By Dr. Boyd

Mayor Will Arrange Appeal Of Large Number Of Assessments

Most of the changes made in the assessment roll this year will be under review by the court of revision, as the result of a discussion of the assessment initiated by Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd at the town council meeting Monday evening.

Mayor Boyd read the following prepared statement "to the town council and taxpayers of Newmarket":

"Several weeks ago the assessor handed in his report. I had not seen the report before it was handed in and I was very much surprised when it was read out that the assessment was down $9,000 below last year. I figure it should be up at least $25,000, with the new houses that have been built and the improvements to buildings on Main St."

"In order to find the reason for this loss in total assessment I asked the assessor to give me a detailed statement showing all increases and assessments on new buildings. He did so and gave me a list of over 100 assessments that he had reduced amounting to over $18,000 and $19,000 new assessments. As these figures showed $1,000 increase instead of $9,000 decrease in the amount, I asked the reason his figures did not balance and make sense. It is evident many of the decreases are not shown in this list, so I instructed the town clerk to get a man to go over this year's and last year's assessments, using an adding-machine and securing for us the correct figures."

"I asked the assessor why he made such sweeping reductions involving over 100 assessments. I said: 'I never told you to do it and the council as a whole did not tell you to do it.' The result is that over 1,000 of us taxpayers who got no reduction have to carry the load taken off the 100 odd who were reduced."

"On top of that there is the loss to the taxpayers as a whole of the provincial government subsidy of one mill on the total assessment so reduced. The higher the total assessment the more money the town gets from the provincial government."

"When I criticized the report at the council meeting when the assessor tabled his report, one member of the council said he was in favor of a lower assessment, as it lowered our county rate. That idea is wrong, as I will prove to you by quoting from the county of York valuers' report presented at the June session, 1938."

I am indebted to Deputy Reeve Joseph Vale for the following figures:

Citizens Vote On School Vocational Wing On Dec. 5

Nominations For Council
And Public School Board
Take Place on Nov. 25

"This by-law is just given first and second reading, and is then submitted to the people," explained N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor, when he put a $12,000 by-law for building a vocational extension to the high school, before the town council on Monday evening.

Nomination of town council and three public school trustees will take place on Friday, Nov. 25, and an election, if necessary, will take place on Monday, Dec. 5.

Election officials were named by the town council as follows: St. George's 1A, John Dolan, D. R. O., W. J. Broughton, poll clerk; 1B, Fred Penrose, D. R. O., Morley Gilles, clerk; 1C, Milton Cook, D. R. O., Charles Thompson, clerk.

St. Andrew's, 2A, Joseph Brammar, D. R. O., John Duffield, clerk; 2B, B. W. Hunter, D. R. O., George Kirby, clerk.

St. Patrick's, 3A, Wm. White, D. R. O., Ralph Adams, clerk; 3B, Stanley Stephens, D. R. O., John Greenwood, clerk.

"I don't think this subject should be opened up," said Councillor W. W. Osborne, when Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd brought before the council a proposal that the town should pay half the rent of a man earning $60 a month.

Dr. Boyd said that Rev. Dr. W. D. Muckle had offered to pay the other half out of his own pocket. "Everybody would want us to pay their rent, if we did that," said Mr. Osborne.

The council declined to give the help asked.

Fifty dollars was voted toward preliminary expenses of the old boys' reunion.

"We have the old boys' reunion well organized, and a treasurer, Harry Lambert, has been appointed," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd.

The town has received $708.27 from K. M. R. Stiver, solicitor, in payment of disputed taxes on property belonging to William Williamson at the corner of Niagara and Queen Sts.

The town agreed to a $50 reduction in its claim. Because there was an eight-inch strip belonging to another party between his property and the street, the owner maintained that he should not be subject to certain improvement taxes.

Would License Hairdressers

A petition signed by Mrs. L. P. Rolph, Miss Pearl Millard, Miss Geraldine Millard, Mrs. Violet Baille and Mrs. Gordon Thompson asked that local hairdressers be licensed by by-law, at the town council meeting Monday evening.

A letter from Dr. J. H. Wesley, M. O. H., said that such a by-law would be in the interests of health.

The petition was aimed at what it called the "unsanitary habit" of hairdressers going from door to door and from hairdressers setting up without a government license.

WOMEN HEAR ABOUT NEW STUDY BOOK

The November meeting of the Evangelical auxiliary of the W.M.S. of Trinity United church held Tuesday evening was a very interesting one. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. L. P. Cane's group. Miss Cole introduced the new study book, "The World in Canada."

Solos by Miss Mary Margaret Webb and Miss Lillian Hart were very much appreciated. A social half hour was spent at the close.

Had Nearly Five Years Illness

After four and a half years illness, Mrs. R. H. Meek died on Monday morning. She did not suffer but she was confined to her bed all that time. She was in her 77th year.

Rev. R. R. McMath conducted the funeral service yesterday afternoon. Six nephews were pallbearers. Interment took place at Dixie, on the Dundas highway west of Toronto.

Mrs. Meek was formerly Lillian McBride and was born in Caledon township, Peel county, and grew up there.

On Sept. 11, 1889, almost 50 years ago, she married R. H. Meek, of Mono township, Dufferin county. The wedding took place at the McBride homestead near Inglewood.

They lived in Caledon township for a few years and then moved to Dundas, where they farmed. In 1918 they moved to Newmarket, and continued farming.

Throughout her life Mrs. Meek was extremely interested in missionary and church work.

Besides her husband, there survive a daughter, (Annie) Mrs. W. B. McMullen, Port Arthur, and a son, Charles M. Meek, Toronto, and six grandchildren; and two brothers, Prof. Wilbert B. McBride, of McGill University, and Edward, who farms on the Caledon homestead.

Town Honors Boys Of 1914-18

The town council accepted an invitation to join in Armistice celebrations on Sunday, received from the Newmarket Veterans, at its meeting Monday evening.

"Don't you think it would be fitting if the town of Newmarket would deposit a wreath on the memorial, with 48 boys killed," said Councillor Wm. Dixon.

The veterans will parade to Trinity United church at 11 a.m., and will fall in at the north end at 10 a.m., leaving at 10.20 a.m. to proceed by way of Main, Timothy and Church Sts., to the memorial, to lay a wreath. S. J. Brice, secretary-treasurer, suggested "that a fitting tribute from the town be likewise deposited."

Councillor Dixon was authorized to purchase a wreath for the town.

SURE IT'S SPRINGTIME IN NEWMARKET!

TWENTY COME A THOUSAND

Armistice day services this year should stress and celebrate 20 years of peace. They have hardly been "piping times of peace," but they have been much happier than those dreadful years of 1914 to 1918. Had it been possible for men to foresee the horrors and the economic aftermath of the last war, there would have been no war. The desire for peace and the shrinking from war has been stronger since the last war than it ever was, and the result has been 20 years of peace. We hope and believe that the 20 years of peace that we have enjoyed will become 100 years of peace, but 20 years of peace is no mean achievement. The Toronto Telegram cites a new book by Ian Hay as authority for the statement that the longest peace in Britain's history since the days of Cromwell was "the 44 years between the Congress of Vienna and the Crimean war. Next come the 40 years from the end of the Indian mutiny to the outbreak of the Boer war." From Waterloo and Vienna in 1815 to the Crimean war in 1854 would be only 39 years, as we count it, making all the more impressive our 20 years of peace.

A CITY SET ON A HILL

Orillia's new street-lighting system is described by lighting experts as "the finest in the world." The system cost $25,000 to install, but will not cost proportionately to supply with electricity, because Orillia owns its own power development and is looking for ways and means of consuming its product. If Orillia advertises this latest improvement sufficiently, we venture to say that a good many people will make a point of visiting the lovely town on the shores of Simcoe and Couchiching to see what they can see. What advertising it would be for our town if we were to widen our busy Main St. and illuminate it in the most modern fashion. And charge it up to Main St., we would say, for Main St. merchants would be the greatest beneficiaries.

Light And The Leacocks

Before we leave Orillia, we note that Mr. George Leacock, of the York county Leacocks, a brother of the famous Stephen, is a member of the Orillia electric power commission. Keeping up the family tradition for humor, Mr. Leacock said: "Orillia always was light-minded. . . I thought that we Orillians had stayed pretty well lit ever since (inauguration of the first system 43 years ago). But some people never can get enough light."

Gosh, We Laughed

Now those remarks aren't very funny, but we bet that the people who heard them first-hand held their sides with laughter, if George is anything like Stephen. Once the writer heard Stephen give a lecture in Halifax, and, his books having preceded him, Professor Leacock got his first laugh without opening his mouth. He just smiled and everybody roared expectantly with laughter. Incidentally, a brother of Stephen (whether it was the light-minded George or not, we don't know) was in the audience and he leaned over and warned his neighbors who he was in case they should want to make any unpleasant remarks about the performer. There is evidently a sense of humor in the family.

Enjoy It And Leave It

The lecture was either very short or very entertaining, but the speaker made up for any seeming shortness. He said that he found that people liked to have something to take away with them from a lecture and he drew from his seat pocket a fist-full of shredded paper to fill the need. People who go to Orillia to see the lights won't be able to take anything away with them, unless it be a few ideas for improvement of their own main streets.

IT HAPPENED HERE

Last week a lady advertised a lost purse in the classified columns of this newspaper. Within an hour of the distribution of the paper, the purse had been turned in at The Era office. When the owner examined the purse, she found that everything lost with it, including quite a little sum of money, was intact. For every dishonest person there are hundreds of people who are anxious to do a good turn (or "return") for someone else.

THAT HIGHWAY

In urging public expenditures we should be mighty sure of our ground. Governments are extravagant for two principal reasons, first, to win votes, and, second, to satisfy demands made upon them. We are thinking of the proposed central Ontario highway. The Ontario government has accepted as a provincial responsibility most of this route, except a little stretch right in our immediate neighborhood, but as yet has done little to improve the route. It seems that the department of highways has become less enthusiastic about this route, and would now like to drop it. The project seemed very logical. It meant the completion of a direct route from Ottawa, through Peterboro and Orangeville, to Sarnia. It tapped new country, and most of the road was already in existence. Hon. Gordon Conant, whose win in Ontario county riding was hailed as a victory over "foreign agitators," helped to gain election by announcing that the department of highways had accepted the part of this highway going through his riding.

Not Extravagance

The Ontario government is spending millions on highways, and we don't think that the people of this district, or the people along this highway route, are encouraging extravagance in asking inclusion of this highway in the department's long-term plan of provincial highways. For instance, the department is going ahead with widening of the No. 2 highway between Toronto and Montreal, at a tremendous cost, although this central Ontario highway would be only a few miles longer route between the two cities, according to sponsors, and would relieve No. 2 of a lot of traffic, in addition to creating new tourist traffic.

How Others Get Results

Sponsors of the central Ontario highway should not ask immediate completion of their route, if that means over-spending of public funds, but they should ask that department engineers report on the merits of the route, and if the report is favorable include it in their plans for the not too distant future. East Simcoe county recently sent a delegation of over 70 to Queen's Park to ask completion of the paving of No. 12 highway between Midland and Orillia. The minister promised early consideration of this work.

Well Armed

Dr. Garnet Tanner said: "We are here asking for something, and we have brought the initial payment. We all came down in motor-cars, and we have paid gasoline tax on the gas we have used." They were in a better position than the delegation from a point not far from Toronto who some years ago went to the city to see railway officials about the proposed abandonment of a passenger service from their town to the city. One of the railwaymen said to them: "And how did you come to the city today?" "By car," they had to reply. "There's your answer, gentlemen," they were told.

POLICE LENIENCY

"Constabulary duties are not always pleasant ones." Or one might say: "Constabulary ways are not always pleasant ones." Probably there are occasions when a constable hasn't time for courtesy, and probably there are occasions when courtesy would be out of place, but usually a constable can use all the courtesy that in him is, and still he may not turn away wrath. The writer is thinking of a trip to the city the other day. On the return trip, coming up Mount Pleasant Rd., he pulled in to the curb and parked between a couple of other cars to make a telephone call. When he came out about five or six minutes later there was a nice little tag on the windshield. It looked like a summons and it sounded like a summons. But a happy surprise was in store. A constable nearby, who had done the deed, said that it wasn't a summons. The writer then read his little message from Mr. Draper. He learned that his presence was required at No. 12 police station, or otherwise he might receive a summons. The traffic officer courteously supplied the information as to the whereabouts of No. 12 police station. (If you ever need to know, it is a little north of Eglinton on Yonge.) At the police station a sergeant (we'd hate to think it was a corporal) explained ever so nicely that anyone who wished to park on Mount Pleasant during a rush hour should elect the west side. He took the name. (We thought the Newmarket address would impress him. Toronto people never get fined for parking in Newmarket—not even on Main St. on Saturday night.) Then very politely he turned his back and forgot us. We were so pleased about saving the one dollar that we did not mind the slight. A lecture is almost as effective as a fine, and a lot more courteous. If the Newmarket police court wishes to use any of the ideas here expressed, may we remind you that as yet there is no copyright on the contents of these editorial columns.

WHEN HISTORIANS LOOK BACK

When a speaker uses the popular term, "isms," he should explain what he means. Or better still, he should not use this new-coined slang, and instead say what he means. Such a word lends itself to the uses of the "politician," in the popular sense of that word, meaning one who wishes to talk without making his meaning clear. We suppose most speakers refer, when they exhort their hearers to "combat the isms," to communism and fascism. We suppose some would include socialism. To communism it is reasonable to object because its supporters would bring it about by force. To fascism it is reasonable to object because it is really not a system of government at all, but a system of despotism (it's still an "ism"). To socialism it is reasonable to object if we should think that our economic misfortunes today are due to too much government interference in business, as illustrated by the Ontario Hydro-Electric, the Canadian National Railways, the post office system, the trans-Canada airways, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Some day our democracy may be called by historians a system of schism, and then students of history will wonder just what those who were opposed to the "isms" did favor.

TARIFF PROBLEMS

A subject which seems to have lost all its interest for public discussion is the tariffs. One of our political parties has professed a belief in high tariffs and the other party has professed a belief in low tariffs. Our tariffs, today, however, are not, we are told, substantially lower than during the highest tariff days of the Bennett government. The truth is that nobody, not even the cleverest economist, can say whether tariffs bring more good than ill. Central Canadians are the biggest beneficiaries from our tariffs. In a tariff world it seems almost necessary for our country to have tariffs, so that we have something to bargain with, concessions to make in return for concessions from others. The fact remains, however, that Britain until a few years ago got along famously without tariffs.

Self-Sufficiency

In the last few years nations have turned more and more to self-sufficiency, which is based on fear, and now even the best neighbors won't buy any more from each other than they can help. We would think, for instance, that France and Canada, with ties of friendship and race, would be anxious to buy from each other, but France last week closed her colonial markets to foreign wheat, shutting out a million and a half bushels of Canadian wheat. The workings of foreign exchange will probably bring it about that Canada will buy that much less merchandise from France or, more likely, from other countries which are buying from France. We must pay for goods with goods.

MERRY GETS A CONTRARY STREAK

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Well I couldn't persuade her to do it," said Merry Chickadee to her mate.

"Couldn't persuade whom to do what?" asked Young Chips.

"Mrs. Phoebe," replied Merry.

"Mrs. Nuthatch and I went over to see if we couldn't get her to stay on a while longer. We thought she would be sure to when the weather is so mild, but she was quite firm in her decision to go south anyway. She's going today. She said that the weather might be very fine to-day, but you couldn't tell when it would turn cold and nip your toes. She has already stayed two or three days longer than usual and isn't going to be misled by Indian summer."

"You might have known that she wouldn't stay much longer," said Young Chips. "Birds are very much creatures of habit. The Phoebe wouldn't have gotten very far if she had tried to persuade you to go south with her."

"I don't know about that—she did try to persuade us," said Merry.

"She painted such a glowing picture of Florida—sunny days and loads of food, and nothing to do but bask in the sun and enjoy the social life—that I almost thought I'd like to try it for a change from the snow and below zero weather here, when we aren't sure where our next meal is coming from."

"Nonsense!" spluttered Young Chips. "She shouldn't have put such crazy notions into your head. And I notice that she didn't paint any glowing picture of the long and tiring and dangerous trip there and back. Besides, I feel that we are needed here to keep up the spirits of the people of Newmarket, even in the coldest weather. We are cheerful and full of pep in all weathers. I certainly don't like to hear you talking about enjoying a life of soft ease in Florida. Our band of Chickadees and Nuthatches and Juncos and other winter birds have a jolly time here anyway."

"Mrs. Nuthatch is going to try to persuade her husband to go to at least a few hundred miles south," put in Merry.

"Well, I doubt very much if she will succeed, but of course, she may," said Young Chips.

"Lots of the Nuthatches and Chickadees do go a little way south. But our family have always wintered here, and we are proud of it."

"Isn't that a Bluebird I hear calling?" said Merry, turning her head in the direction from which the sound came. "Why, he's right here beside us," she exclaimed.

"How do you do, Mr. Bluebird. I thought you folks had all left this neck of the woods."

"I'm late," said the Bluebird.

"And from now on I'm going to take my trip seriously and not waste any more time. But to-day is such a grand warm day for loafing that I'm going to get a real rest, before starting off for South Carolina."

"South Carolina—Florida—"

murmured Merry to herself. "I wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing to break with tradition and spend the winter in a different place this year."

"Who are those birds over in those hemlock trees, dipping and darting around?" asked Merry, when the Bluebird had gone.

"Let's go and see," said Young Chips. "We can see their size well enough to be sure that they're not Owls or Hawks—so we won't be making the same mistake that I did last week."

"I should say not," Merry agreed. "And if I had been with you instead of that scatter-brained Meadowlark, it wouldn't have happened then. And aside from the real danger to you, think of the terrible example of carelessness that you were setting the children, she scolded."

"Who told them about it?" asked Young Chips. "I certainly didn't."

"They heard it from Hand-some, the Blue Jay," said Merry. "And don't ask me how he found out. He seems to find out everything you don't want him to. He's an awful meddler in other people's business."

"Why, how are you, old-timers?" hailed Young Chips, as they reached the other birds.

"We couldn't see that you were Goldfinches from where we were. You are looking rather faded and worn, aren't you, so no wonder."

"If you are trying to be amusing at our expense," said one of the Goldfinches. "I don't consider that very funny. Can we help it if we lose our looks in the winter? Anyway, you're probably just jealous because you haven't a beautiful golden yellow suit in the spring and summer."

"Oh, no I'm not," said Young Chips. "I'd much rather have a nice, modest, yet dressy, suit of grey and black and white, and have it all the time, than to have fine feathers for part of the year and to lose them."

"Now, boys, don't quarrel," begged Merry. "You are the best of friends, but you do love to tease each other. And I'm sure I'd adore to have a Goldfinch's costume, a gentleman Goldfinch's costume, that is."

"Now who's casting slurs?" asked Young Chips. "But just to make up for our being rather nasty to you, we'll tell you where to find some nice sunflower seeds. I know they are your favorite food."

"And I tell you," replied the dramatist, "that I have read it aloud, and that it does not take quite 20 minutes."

"But," retorted the actress, "I put in the 'I's!'"

POLICE COURT Shot Racoons Stealing Crop

Convicted on a charge of possessing two racoon skins, Emerson Bateman, King township, was fined $5 and costs of $8.50, or ten days. Constable Fisher Dunham, Aurora, laid the charge.

"On Saturday, Oct. 22, at 9.50 p.m. from information received, I searched the car driven by Bateman and found the two racoon skins in it," testified Constable Dunham. "I asked Mr. Bateman if he knew it was out of season to shoot racoons and he replied, yes. He admitted he was the owner of the car."

Testifying for the defence, Allan Pike stated that he had been employed by Mr. Bateman until recently and that the racoon crop had been nearly ruined, as the stalks were torn to the ground and the cobs torn to pieces.

The witness said that the damage could possibly have been done by coons.

"I heard the dog barking one night and I went out to the field and saw that the dog had two coons corralled," stated Mr. Bateman. "The coons were tired out and the dog also, so I shot the coons. Over 90 per cent of my sweet corn was destroyed by the coons and also some of the field corn. Also something had been bothering the apples in barrels in the orchard and I suspected the coons. I thought that I would get the skins tanned, as my wife said they would make a good scarf. Constable Dunham found me a week later with the skins. I hadn't thought it was necessary to inform the department of game and fisheries about shooting the coons."

Defence counsel stated that the coons were shot on Bateman's own property only to stop them from doing any more damage, and that ten days is given to inform the department, but that Mr. Bateman was picked up on the seventh day, and that he had no intention of selling the skins.

"But the skins were in his car at Aurora and they were quite fresh," stated the crown attorney.

Three Toronto youths, who were last week found guilty and convicted on a charge of breaking and entering into the Chopin service station, were sentenced by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in police court here on Tuesday.

Peter Skabernicky and John Humeneyk were each given jail terms of six months, while William Garbutt was sent to the Ontario Reformatory for a definite period of six months and an indefinite period not to exceed six months. Each of the sentences will be dated back to the time the three were arrested on Oct. 25.

Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C., read the following court record of the youths: Skabernicky and Humeneyk were each convicted on a charge of breaking and entering in Toronto on Sept. 7, 1938, and were placed on probation for one year. Garbutt was placed on probation for one year when he was convicted on a charge of theft on June 29, 1937.

For attempted theft in September, 1937, Garbutt was placed on probation for an indefinite period. In October, 1937, on a charge of theft of an auto Garbutt was sentenced to a term of six to 12 months in the Reformatory and was paroled in May, 1938. In October, 1938, a charge of receiving laid against Garbutt was withdrawn and in the same month the charge of theft of an auto at Woodstock was also withdrawn.

Convicted on four breaches of the game and fisheries act, Bruno Gorassini, Toronto, was fined a total of $50 with costs added. On each of the three charges of carrying an automatic shotgun, possessing a ring-necked pheasant, and hunting pheasants without a license, he was fined $10 and costs. On the fourth charge of having an excess number of pheasants he was fined $20 and costs. The alternative on each charge was ten days, the sentences to run consecutively.

Game overseer N. E. H. Sitwell laid the four charges against Gorassini. Defence counsel was F. Molinaro, Toronto. Mr. Sitwell did the cross-examining.

"After receiving a call I found the accused in Markham township five miles north of Scarborough township," testified Game Warden Ben Gayman, Unionville. "Gorassini was in a farmer's field and he had five cock pheasants and one hen pheasant, but the limit for one hunter is three cock birds. I obtained possession of the gun and it was loaded. The accused explained the gun."

"What explanation did the man give you for having the hen bird?" asked Mr. Molinaro.

"He said that he had picked it up," answered Mr. Gayman.

"I examined the gun when it was brought to headquarters in Toronto and it could contain five shots," stated Mr. Sitwell.

"The gun could only contain two shots, as the rest was plugged," stated Gorassini.

"The department will not be satisfied with the minimum penalty, as the accused had an automatic shotgun and because he shot over the maximum number of birds allowed without even a license to shoot them," stated Mr. Sitwell. The game overseer was also given an order to confiscate the gun.

On a charge of hunting ring-necked pheasants in Markham township without a license, R. Carrifella, Toronto, was fined $15 and costs of $13.50, or ten days, and his gun was ordered confiscated. This case was also conducted by Mr. Sitwell and F. Molinaro was defence counsel.

"On Oct. 21 I was out acting as a game warden when I came across the accused, who was walking across the road to a field with his gun," stated Fred Shadlow. "When I asked for the gun, he took out the shells and put them in his bag. He had a provincial license and a Scarborough license but no license to shoot in Markham township. The accused said that he was just waiting for some friends but his gun was dirty when I looked through it."

Game Warden Ben Gayman stated that Carrifella was five miles within the boundary of Markham township and that the accused told him that he didn't know he was in Markham at all. Carrifella had not shot any birds, Mr. Gayman said.

Mr. Carrifella told the court that he was a shoemaker and had just gone out for a day's shooting and that he did not know that he was not in Scarborough township.

When I saw Noble coming along carrying a .22 rifle. I went out and stopped Noble and asked for his gun but he refused to give it to me. I grappled with him for possession of the gun and he hollered: 'Look out, the gun is loaded.' In the scuffle one cartridge fell out. Noble told me that he had no permit for the gun. He refused to submit to a search, so I told him that I would put him in jail and then he gave me some loose shots and also a box of them."

"Did you actually see Noble discharge the gun?" asked Mr. Crozier.

"Yes, I was about 35 feet away from him," answered the constable.

"Did you get any empty shells?" "No."

"Are there any houses around where Noble was shooting?" "Yes, quite a few."

Thomas Ardill stated that he was working near there and heard the shot but that he couldn't say who fired the gun.

William Lyons for the defence said that he did not hear a shot fired and that he talked to Noble for four or five minutes, then he went up the street and met Constable Burke. The constable went to where Noble was and the scuffle ensued, Mr. Lyons said.

A charge of having liquor in an illegal place laid against Elisha Charles, Island Grove, was remanded one week for judgment, after evidence was given. Defence counsel was Frank Moore, Toronto. Inspector William Brimacombe of the York county police force laid the charge.

"I submit that the accused might not have known that the premises were declared a public place when a conviction was registered against a tenant occupying the premises this summer," stated defence counsel.

"The tenant had moved to a house in Newmarket just before the conviction was made but as the liquor had been seized in the house at Island Grove that house was apparently declared public. The accused kept the beer for his own consumption, not knowing that the premises were public and if your worship believes this I think the charge should be withdrawn."

"I think that the charge should be withdrawn if the accused did not know that the premises were public, but my instructions are that he did know and then it's different," stated the crown attorney.

"It's customary to notify tenants that the place has been declared public and my client had no such notice," stated Mr. Moore.

"On Oct. 14, at 8.20 p.m., I went to the premises of the accused in company with Inspector Brimacombe and Constable Carl Morton," testified County Constable Alex. McCallum. "I saw Mr. and Mrs. Charles and another man and woman in the house. We had a search warrant with us and on searching the bedroom we found a large quantity of beer and in the refrigerator there were also quite a few bottles. In all, we found 69 quarts and over four dozen pints. I was also at the same place in the summer when we found a large quantity of liquor belonging to another tenant. The charge against the tenant was heard in this court and a conviction was registered."

Inspector Brimacombe corroborated Constable McCallum's evidence.

Mrs. Charles, wife of the accused, testified that they had rented their house at Island Grove for the summer but that the tenant had only stayed there for five weeks when he left for Newmarket.

"I understand that beer was taken from your premises?" asked Mr. Moore.

"Yes," answered Mrs. Charles.

"Did you ever receive any notification that the premises had been declared public?"

"No, I thought probably that the police might think that as my husband was an Indian, we couldn't have any liquor and that was why they were searching the house."

"Didn't you know that the place had been raided in the summer and that liquor had been seized?" asked the crown attorney.

"Yes," answered Mrs. Charles.

"Didn't you know what happened?" "We didn't follow up the case."

"What about all this liquor that was found by the officers?" "We had it for our own use and if we wanted to treat our friends."

A charge of keeping liquor for sale laid against Mrs. Jennie Hartford and John Marshall, Newmarket, was adjourned one week for argument and judgment. Constable James Sloss laid the charge.

"On Aug. 24, at 11 p.m., accompanied by Constable Mount and four county officers, I went with a search warrant to the premises of the accused," testified Constable Sloss. "When we entered the house I saw two people drinking beer at the kitchen table. We also found 50 quarts of ale in the house. During the three months in which the charge was laid I found that on Saturday nights the traffic in and out of the house was particularly thick. I have noticed as high as six men come out of the house at different times, often after midnight. I watched these premises every Saturday night except one during the three-month period, and there was traffic every Saturday night. I couldn't say what condition the men were in that left the house."

"Did you make an investigation with the Liquor Control Board?" asked the crown.

"No, one of the other officers did that."

"Did you seize the liquor because you thought an offence was being committed?" asked defence counsel. "Yes."

"Why did you not lay the charge the following day instead of waiting until Sept. 27?"

"I was waiting until the other officer secured the delivery slips from the brewer's warehouse and made an investigation with the Liquor Control Board."

"Aren't there other places in Newmarket where you might see a few people leaving on a Saturday night if you were watching?" asked Mr. Moore.

"Yes," answered Constable Sloss.

"Did you recognize any of the people who came out of the house?" asked Mr. Mathews.

"Yes."

"Were they weekend guests?" "No."

Constable Mount corroborated the evidence of Constable Sloss and stated that he had also watched the place on several occasions and had seen people entering and leaving the house.

County Constable Aubrey Fleury also corroborated the evidence of the other two officers.

Orval A. Patenaude, Toronto, who was the manager of the brewer's warehouse at Jackson's Point during the summer, stated that the purchase slips were signed by the customer when the liquor was delivered and then the purchase slips were sent to the Liquor Control Board.

Walter Hayward, Toronto, who was a truck driver for the warehouse at Jackson's Point, identified the purchase slips as those signed by the accused during the three-month period.

No defence was given but defence counsel stated that he would put in an argument about the purchase slips next week.

In Memoriam

Moore—In loving memory of our dear mother, Margaret Ann Moore, who passed away Nov. 8, 1931. What would we give her hand to clasp.

Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In Heaven, that happy life.

Ever remembered by Melville and Mercie and granddaughter, Margaret.

Moore—In loving memory of our dear grandmother, Mrs. Howard Moore, who passed away Nov. 8, 1931. The depths of sorrow we cannot tell.

Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep.

Her memory we shall always keep.
Ever remembered by her grandchildren, Irene and Bruce.

Sent To Buy Old Desk; Gets Town Two New Desks, Chair

Two New Desks Look Nicer,
Council Shopper Says;
Cost Is $83.50

The matter of a second-hand desk for the town clerk's assistant, discussed by the council in October, was brought to a head on Monday evening by a report from Councillor L. K. Farr, that two new desks and a new chair had been purchased. The desks will cost $74 and the chair $9.50.

Councillor Farr had investigated the purchase of a second-hand desk in Toronto, he stated, and had found the cost only $2 less than the price of a new desk from the Office Specialty Co., Newmarket.

"Did you get a quotation from P. M. Thompson?" asked Reeve J. A. Knowles.

"No," said Councillor Farr. "Could not P. M. Thompson get the furniture as cheaply as we could and still make a profit on it?" Councillor C. E. Sparks inquired. "We should try to keep the business in town."

"Would you buy two new desks?" asked the mayor.

"That was the thought," stated Mr. Farr. "They would match and give the office a nicer appearance. The old desk could be used in the council chambers."

"How's the budget?" asked the Reeve.

The announcement was made to the effect that the council had

AURORA FACTORY SEES IMPROVED BUSINESS

A marked increase in business, showing a decided improvement over last year, is reported by Wm. Johnston, of the Fluery-Bissel Company in Aurora. The pay-roll this year has been well ahead of last year, and night shifts recently have been found necessary to take care of the rush of autumn business.

spent about $10,000 less this year than last. A few minutes later, however, a more thorough check showed the spending position to be about the same as last year, and the ex-finance chairman missed a lot of congratulations.

"I did not think it was the council's intention to buy two desks," Deputy-Reeve Malloy stated.

"Some desks are different in finish," Mr. Farr pointed out. "After all it is only a matter of $37."

"I suggest we sell the old desk that is not going to be used," the deputy-reeve stated.

"If we are going to get new furniture for the council room in the not too distant future, why not buy it all together?"

"Sentiment forbids," smiled the mayor. "There has been talk from time to time of a new council table, but nothing has come of it."

ABOUT TOWN

WHAT'S $83.50?

At the October meeting of the Aurora council (we quote from the minutes), "It was decided that an additional desk should be purchased for the office and a member of the council was instructed to investigate the cost of a used desk and to report back."

At the November meeting, on Monday, it was reported that the cost of a used desk would be only $2 less than the price of a new desk, $37.

That, we point out to Aurora taxpayers, was rather a poor bit of shopping. It happens that we know, from personal experience, that there are hundreds of good used desks in Toronto that could be purchased for less than $35.

What's the explanation? Just this... on Monday it was also reported that two desks and a chair were purchased. Two desks, because of alleged difficulty in matching the finishes. Otherwise, it was stated, one desk might be a shade lighter than the other.

So the council's shopper—at least this is our guess—went looking for two second-hand desks that matched... an entirely different matter from getting a price on one second-hand desk.

Instead of a bill for $15 or $20 for a second-hand desk, $37 for the taxpayers will pay $83.50 for two new desks, plus $9.50 for a new chair—a total of $83.50.

In justice to one member of council, who did object to the purchase of two desks, we refer you to the news story of the discussion, elsewhere on this page.

We don't believe in senseless economy, but when relief bills are carefully watched, and when the townsfolk are in such financial plight that light and water arrears are causing concern, it is not good business to spend $60 extra for the sake of getting desks that match to the umpteenth shade.

The matter was given more point on Monday night, since it was followed by a request from the Aurora Fire Brigade for fire alarm bells for five members of the brigade. The council, suddenly cautious, decided to shelve the matter for further investigation.

Aurora is fortunate in having an unusually efficient council. In this matter, however, we believe they were wrong... public interest may well demand more efficient fire-protection, but it can put up with two desks which do not quite match.

We all make mistakes. But will we all admit it?

STREAM OF DOLLARS

"Even the weariest river," Swinburne decided in "The Garden of Proserpine,"—"winds somewhere safe to sea." The thought grips us. If we were to spill a glass of water on the corner of Yonge and Wellington Sts., it is comforting to know that eventually it would get by the water and light departments and find a resting place in either the Atlantic, Pacific or Arctic oceans.

Upon the exact course followed by the water, however, much depends. It is to be hoped that, for the benefit of Ontario farmers, it pursues a winding course—with time off to moisten and refreshen the waiting fields. Otherwise, the water may do but little good.

As with water, so it is with money. We might paraphrase Swinburne into saying that even the weariest dollar eventually reaches the bank. The good our dollars do depends upon where we spend them—they can pursue a leisurely, winding course, enriching a number of our neighbors—or they can go through the mail to other points, doing but little good.

Spend a dollar with your local merchant, and it will surprise you what use may be made of it. It can pay rent in your town. It can pay wages to a fellow laborer and may eventually give more employment to you or to members of your family. It can pay taxes to the town, or help with the town's water or light bill. It can help give you better sidewalks, police protection and help in educating your children.

Or it may go straight to the "big city" and do none of these things.

Thirteen Institutes Meet For Rally In Aurora United Church

Members of 13 branches attended the Women's Institute rally held in the United church on Friday and heard a fine discussion of parliamentary procedure, art and music appreciation and group management, led by Mrs. J. Houck, Brampton.

Mrs. B. Sinclair, district vice-president, from Mount Albert, was in the chair.

"We might be able to give some pointers to our county councillors," Mrs. Houck suggested, and under her direction a mock election was held. Program planning was one of the important items in Mrs. Houck's address.

"Our program is founded on education and practical work," she stated. "Usually our best church workers are most interested in the institute meetings. We should strive to serve the child, the adolescent and the adult."

"We do not make use of demonstrations as we should," the speaker declared, urging that greater attention be given current events, free dental clinic, the placing of first aid kits in schools. Government films, and social features such as picnics and social evenings were of value in institute work, she said.

"So many women do not think for themselves, but just vote as their fathers and husbands tell them. We must strive to build happy and contented homes. A revolution seldom comes to countries with these fundamentals."

Mrs. Houck stressed the value of discussion groups in institute programs. They increased interest and developed leaders, she contended.

A splendid dinner was served to those attending the rally by members of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid.

Stores Shut For Two Hours Friday

Town merchants, with the exception of restaurants, etc., will be asked to close from 10 a.m. until 12 noon on Friday of this week, the council decided on Monday.

The move was decided upon to enable the townsfolk to attend the armistice services to be held at the memorial at 11 a.m. on Friday.

"I feel very strongly that it should mean something more than standing still for several minutes," the mayor stated, in discussing the observance of armistice day. "But it is not fair to do so at the expense of the merchants."

Mayor and council members will attend the service in a body. It was decided, and will meet when the Veterans leave the town park at 10.30.

ment in town—we have heard the same mothers telling of the bargains they got in the big city... thereby depriving the town merchants of sales that might have enabled them to employ more help.

We have heard a member of the town council bragging of the fruit he had bought from a Toronto store. The same member of council also complains of arrears owing the town by citizens who had not been able to obtain enough work.

As the whirl-friend of the girling dervish said, "It's a vicious circle."

Swinburne, the poet, has also something to say in disparaging fashion about folk who sow in order that they may reap. He would have been lifted to a more cheerful mood, perhaps, had he known of the many country-folk who sow their dollars where they will reap the least—in places that yield no return, comparatively speaking, to the towns and villages in which the seed originated.

At this season of the year, with Christmas on the way and all that—we would do well to consider where we spend our money, as well as how we spend it. This is the big spending season of the year. Your local merchants have loaded up with merchandise in anticipation of your wants.

Keep faith with them.

EXAMPLE

To those who point to savings made by big-city buying, we would point out that a circular of one of the big-city stores, which floated about our lawn recently, advertised blankets at a price of $2.29. The same blankets could have been purchased from an Aurora merchant who advertised in The Era the week before... for ten cents less!

Be thrifty—and shop at home.

TAX COLLECTIONS SHOWING INCREASE

Tax collections in Aurora show an improvement over 1937, the report of J. G. McDonald, town treasurer, reported on Monday. Current tax receipts this year are $50,794.64, compared with $46,943.76 last year, while arrears in taxes collected this year are $9,077.81, compared with $8,889.63 in 1937.

Puckchasers Get On Toronto Ice For Next Week

With a couple of practices lined up on Toronto ice, and with the S. P. A. series starting in Toronto next weekend, Aurora's junior puckchasers are getting started on the championship trail once more.

Twenty-three lads turned up for training in the high school gym on Tuesday and they'll be there again tonight, with possibly a dozen more.

Looking over the players' register, this year's squad will be both young and heavy. Many of the boys have not played organized hockey before this season, and Coach Rowntree will have his work cut out to weld the group into an efficient hockey machine.

Practice and plenty of it, is the answer, the club executive feels, and they are doing their best to arrange for ice. A dance to help defray costs is being held on Friday evening at Middlebrook's Hall, Yonge St.

AURORA BAPTISTS ATTEND RALLY

Three new members were welcomed into the Aurora Baptist church at the communion service held on Sunday morning. The evening service featured the singing of a 20-voice male choir, composed of church members, and by the Ratcliffe male quartet from the Ratcliffe Baptist church, near Ringwood.

On Sunday evening there will be an illustrated service of remembrance.

More Should Be Paying On Water Rate, Council Feels

Find Three Getting Water From One Service; Suggest Change

"I was surprised to see that quite a number are not paying water rates who should be paying them," Reeve J. A. Knowles told the council on Monday evening. "I would suggest a meeting to go into the matter more fully."

One case in which three families lived in one big house, with one water connection, was cited by Councillor Dr. E. J. Henderson. There was one bathroom, but three sinks, he stated, and asked the council for guidance on how these should be charged.

"I think a committee should go over the matter and bring in a report," Mayor Dr. C. R. Boulding said.

"It is only fair to the office to say that it was decided two years ago by council that they should be charged as they are now," Town Clerk M. L. Andrews reminded the meeting.

The water and lights committee should go over the list of water ratepayers and of those who might be paying water rates under a different system, and report back to the council in December.

Five Clubs Join Badminton Group

At an inter-group badminton meeting on Friday plans were drawn up for a five-club league, consisting of the Kingsdale club, Lansing, and clubs from Thornhill, Markham, Newmarket and Aurora, to operate this winter.

President of the inter-group is Orval Clarke and the secretary is Eugene Doyle, both of Newmarket. The North York Badminton Association, as it was named, will schedule home-and-home games between the clubs, top ranking teams to play a final series.

On Wednesday evening the Aurora club will play hosts to a number of expert badminton players from Toronto, who will play exhibition games here. The exhibition is open to the public, and is intended to encourage interest in badminton, a club official told The Era.

Took Six Weeks To Cross Ocean

Only living charter member of the W. M. S. of the Methodist church of 50 years ago, Mrs. David Rogers was congratulated by her many friends on the occasion of her 88th birthday on Tuesday. She was the first recording secretary of the local W. M. S. and for 21 years was treasurer of the society.

Mrs. Wright came to this country from the Old Land when she was but a baby, with her mother and father. It took six weeks to cross the Atlantic in a ship which had been built by her grandfather.

"People had it harder then than now," Mrs. Wright states. Her failing eyesight has made her depend on her friends, who, she says, have been very kind to her. She has lived in Aurora since she was nine years old.

AUTHORIZE CHANGE IN TOWN CONTRACT

A change in the contract between the town of Aurora and Dehydration Processes Ltd., was approved by council on Monday and Solicitor L. C. Lee was authorized to see that the contract was adjusted.

The change affects treatment of the windows in the former match factory. Instead of putting in glass in some windows or of bricking them in, the company is authorized to put up shutters. It was necessary to be able to shut out light for certain purposes, the company's request stated.

"The new company has spent between $3,000 and $4,000 in repairs," Mayor Dr. C. R. Boulding pointed out. "We would have had to do it ourselves or let the building go to absolute ruin."

By-Law Will Be Voted On At Time Of Municipal Election

Aurorans will be given an opportunity to voice their opinion on the appointment of a commission to control the operation of the town's light and water works, the council decided on Monday evening.

"At the nomination meeting last year it was suggested that the town power and light be handled on lines similar to those used by hydro," Mayor Dr. C. R. Boulding stated. "In hydro municipalities they have a commission."

"How would it be formed?" asked Dr. E. J. Henderson.

The question could be put to the vote of the people at the coming election this year, it was stated, and if the commission were approved, then members of the commission could be voted on at the next election, a year from that time. The commission could be composed of three or five members, of which the mayor would be one, by virtue of his office.

"Would it not be possible to have just one man?" it was asked. "I think not," said the mayor, with a smile. "He might be a dictator."

"That might be the best thing for us," commented the Reeve.

In some municipalities the commission members were paid and in others they were not. Town Clerk M. L. Andrews informed the meeting.

It was suggested that commission members be paid $5 per meeting, with no more than two meetings a month.

"I wish we had some precedent to go on," the mayor said.

"That is the practice in Brampton," the clerk stated.

The by-law was worded to appoint two members, who, with the mayor, would form the commission. One member will act for one year, the other for two years, as decided by lot. Commissioners will be paid $5 a meeting for two meetings a month.

If approved at a vote at the coming election, the electors will vote on commissioners as well as councillors a year from next December. The commission will control and operate electric light and power and water-works.

Conviction Quashed, Strong Doubt Formed As To Guilt

Iodine Used Before Blood Test Taken Credited With High Count

"A strong doubt as to the guilt of the accused," led Judge James Parker to allow the appeal this week of Clifford Case, Aurora barrister and former M. L. A., from a conviction for driving while intoxicated.

Magistrate Wm. Keith had sentenced Mr. Case to seven days in jail and the impounding of his car for three months.

Mr. Case was found on the highway two miles south of Thornhill on May 31 at 6 p.m. in a condition of stupor, according to the evidence. He was taken to the Willowdale police station, where he consented to a blood test. The blood test showed 4.5 parts of alcohol to the thousand, considered sufficient to produce a condition of unconsciousness.

Mr. Case said that he had drunk two ounces of rye at 5.20 p.m., and a doctor testified that he had given him 15 grains of chloral hydrate and 15 grains of potassium bromide at 4.30 p.m. for insomnia and nervousness.

Evidence was also given that Mr. Case's arm had been washed with iodine, containing alcohol, before the blood was taken for the test.

Other doctors gave evidence that Mr. Case's condition was more likely caused by the drugs given than by the liquor he had drunk, and that the iodine accounted for the high blood test.

Board Of Trade Considers Town's Parking Problems

Will Hold Christmas Tree Party For Children Again This Year

Traffic congestion, both inside the town and out, were seen as the major problems confronting the Aurora Board of Trade at its meeting in the council chambers on Thursday night of last week.

The meeting, called for re-organization for the coming year, saw the re-election of A. N. Fisher as president, Dr. E. J. Henderson as vice-president, Ross Linton, secretary, A. M. Kirkwood, treasurer, B. Aldrich, L. C. Lee, C. E. Lundy, C. Collinson, Dr. J. L. Urquhart and W. J. Merchant are committee members.

Work will be continued in an endeavor to have the government take action to eliminate the bottle-neck congestion on Yonge St. below Richmond Hill, it was decided.

In addition, efforts will be made to assure shoppers in Aurora of even better parking facilities for their cars. The parking situation would be greatly benefited if people in town co-operated, the meeting considered.

The usual Christmas tree program for the kiddies is again on the Board of Trade's program, and plans will be made for the fall banquet.

Veterans Attend Anglican Church

Marching to the music of the Aurora Boys' Band, the Veterans attended a remembrance service held at Trinity Anglican church on Sunday evening. They were led by George Langstaff, president of the local veterans' association.

Rev. G. O. Lighthorn spoke on the situation in Europe. Recent revelations to the British parliament, he stated, had shown that Britain had not been properly prepared to meet Hitler. This, he felt, had been responsible for Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's action in obtaining settlement of the Czechoslovakian dispute.

Following the sermon, the Last Post was sounded and two minutes silence was observed. The service concluded with the singing of the hymn, "O Valiant Hearts."

Fire Brigade Has Five-Hour Fight

The Aurora Fire Brigade got a five-hour job when they answered a call to the home of John McCallum, on the 6th concession of King, near Strange, on Friday night.

Smoke from a vacant room was noticed by Mr. McCallum as he was about to retire, and the alarm was spread immediately. A bucket brigade did their best until the Aurora brigade arrived. The brigade was hampered by lack of water, and even Alex. McMurphy's creek failed to keep the hose going.

Though a good deal of furniture was saved, the frame construction of the house, plus lack of water, made it impossible to save the house. Insurance will cover some $1,300 of the loss, it is believed.

Football Championship Is Won By Shoemakers' Team

Came From Behind To Best Foundry 2 - 1 In Series Final

Championship of the town indoor football series slipped through the clutching fingers of the foundry team into the waiting hands of the shoemakers as a result of the final match played in the arena on Thursday night.

Although downed, the foundry squad were not out of it altogether, and put on one of the best attacks of the season.

The shoemakers took the lead in the first period when Gordon Long scored.

Gord. Long booted one in for the shoemakers in the first period but the referee ruled that it had been kicked from within the crease and the goal was disallowed.

In the second period the foundry men showed to better advantage. Led by the rushing of Hadfield they more than kept the shoemakers busy, and finally Bob Bonville, who had arrived just in time for the middle period, booted in a nice one when he went up the field with Hadfield.

Play became a little stiffer and Cy Harmon and Hadfield had turns in the penalty box. As Harmon came on again "Hank" Clubb came through and on a long kick from almost centre field, looped one in to tie the score for Sisman's.

Harmon was the hero of the third period when he took the ball up almost alone, and booted it in to give Sisman's a one-goal lead and the championship.

C. Willis, M. Fry Win At Tennis

To Connie Willis and Mae Fry go the senior ladies' championships of the Aurora Tennis Club, as a result of final tournament play over the weekend.

Miss Willis defeated Audrey Grieves 6-2, 6-2, to win the senior ladies' title, and the Dr. C. J. Devins trophy. The junior title went to Miss Fry when Elizabeth Wilcox had to default the match.

A. Y. P. A. Party Well Attended

Members of the A. Y. P. A. held their meeting on Monday evening in the form of a Biblical questionnaire, under the direction of Evelyn Hurd. The club ping-pong tournament continued, and plans were made for the next meeting, for which an educational program is scheduled.

About 150 attended the "at home" of the A. Y. P. A., held in the high school on Wednesday evening. They were welcomed by Don. Glass, president of the group.

The deanery conference of the A. Y. P. A. will be held in the Newmarket Anglican church on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 26 and 27.

VICTORIA SQUARE
Singing Evangel
Is Guest Pastor

Most of the people in this community took advantage of the beautiful "April" weather last Sunday, to attend anniversary services in the local churches.
Unfortunately, Victoria Square
United and Gormley Mennonite chose the same date for their anniversary and so the members could not attend each other's services, as is their usual custom.

The reporter chose to attend the Mennonite church and is, therefore, unable to give an account of the United church services more than to say that Rev.
Mr. Tuer of Agincourt was the guest speaker, both afternoon and evening, and Mr. Gordon of Toronto furnished special music.

The beauty of the little Mennonite church was enhanced by beautiful bouquets of mums, and other autumn flowers, and was filled to capacity for all three services, 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. The guest preacher was Rev. Ben Spicer, who was for many years associated with the old Elm St. Methodist church, and later a singing evangelist on the street corner in Toronto.

For the afternoon service the text was taken from Acts 3:19,
"Repent ye therefore, and be converted." Mr. Spicer also brought two messages in song, accompanying himself on a guitar. The Ratcliffe quartet was also in attendance and sang three beautiful numbers. This fine quartet is composed of Mr. Ratcliffe, his two sons and hired man, who is a native of South Africa, and possesses a very fine tenor voice.

For the evening service, Mr.
Spicer's text was from Genesis 3:7, 8. He also sang two beautiful solos.

The ladies of the congregation served lunch at noon and tea in the evening, so that people coming from a distance could stay at the church all day.

The annual hot roast goose supper was served in the basement of the United church on Wednesday night last, with a large crowd on hand to enjoy it.

Mr. Tommy Walker and his concert party from Toronto furnished a splendid program following the supper.

Many of the local hunters are now in the northern woods hunting deer, but say the extremely mild weather has been most unfavorable for this sport.

MAPLE HILL

Country Church
More Than Full

There was a large crowd out on Sunday evening. The church was filled and some were standing outside. All enjoyed the lovely singing by the Baker Hill ladies.

The sermon by Rev. G. Brown was very helpful. After the service, Mrs. Fred Knights entertained the visitors and served refreshments.

The ladies of the Dorcas society visited the Dorcas society at Langstaff on Thursday, and enjoyed very much the fellowship with them, also a good service in the evening.

Rev. and Mrs. G. Brown and George Coulter, had tea on Sunday at Mr. Harry Knights'.

Friends are sorry to hear of the illness of Mary Carol Knights and hope to see her out again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Love and family and Mr. and Mrs. Hector Hawkins and family, all of Toronto, visited at Mr. David Love's on Sunday.

On Friday evening the prayer meeting will be held at Mount Albert, where Maple Hill is joining them for prayer.

"An' wha may he be?"
"Oh, a writer of verses, such as

WHERE DOES ALL THE MONEY COME FROM?

MORE than four and one-half million depositors in Canada have "money in the bank."

They are satisfied to leave their money on deposit because Canada's chartered banks are ready and able to pay back promptly every cent when the depositor calls for it.

These deposits in the chartered banks total roughly $2,262,000,000—approximately 10 per cent. of which they carry in cash—in other words Bank of Canada money or "legal tender."

Some people do not fully understand banking operations and might ask:

1. What have the banks got to represent our deposits if they do not have it all in cash?
2. How can the banks repay our deposits, over $2,262,000,000, with the amount of cash they hold?

The answer to No. 1 is: Look at any bank balance sheet and you will see for yourself that a bank owns more than it owes. That is to say—if all of its depositors were paid off and all of its other debts paid, a balance would be left belonging to the shareholders.

That should answer your first question satisfactorily. And now for No. 2:

Look again at a bank balance sheet and you will see that in addition to the cash it holds, the bank owns assets quickly convertible into cash, or which can be used to borrow from the Bank of Canada.

Experience has taught banks the amount of cash it is necessary to carry to meet ordinary day to day demands, and also the proportion it is necessary to carry in gilt-edged quick assets which can be liquidated to meet even any extraordinary demand. Banks know that it is absurd to expect all depositors to call for their money at the same time.

That would be like saying that if everybody got sick at the same time there would not be room in the hospitals to take care of them.

Or that if everybody who travels by street car decided to travel at exactly the same hour, there would not be enough cars to carry them.

Or that if every person who carries life insurance died on the same day all the claims could not be met.

Or that if every sea were drained dry there would be no ocean liners.

Such statements are meaningless when you expose them to the cold light of common sense.

Where, then, does all the money come from? That question can best be answered by asking this one: Who owns it—and how do they get it?

Addressing ourselves to 4,740,000 depositors we answer: "This money is yours. You own it. When you call for it, you get it. When you ask any existing Canadian bank for it, do you ever fail to get it promptly?"

We ask you, too: "Do you regard your deposit as figures in a book?"

When somebody wants to change all your business and economic methods and by some mysterious magic to bring about overnight a promised millennium of prosperity, ask what success such a theorist has made of handling his own affairs, before you back his theory.

Bank deposits reflect tangible wealth produced. Every dollar we owe to you—our depositors—is backed by many dollars in real assets.

Canada's chartered banks not only serve the individual well, they are a great factor

Only as we accept the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount and try to carry these into effect is there any hope of lasting peace, he said.

TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Era: I would be obliged if you would answer the following questions: (1) Who are the owners of the York county hospital? (2) What remuneration do the directors receive for their services? (3) What dividends, if any, do they receive from the funds of the hospital? (4) If there is a membership of the hospital association, how does one become a member? (5) What becomes of the money earned by the hospital?

"Subscriber" debited to P. W. Pearson, of the hospital board, for the following information, answering the above questions: (1) Those who have a right to vote and elect a board of directors are individuals who have paid $25 for a life membership, or who pay $1 per year for a yearly membership. This money, of course, is used for hospital purposes. (2) The directors receive no pay or remuneration of any kind for the work they do.

(3) As there has never been any stock issued, there have never been dividends of any kind paid to any person. Originally, the members of the board subscribed and gave several thousand dollars for the purpose of building the hospital. Others of the public purchased bonds to the extent of $25,000, which by 1940, will have been paid off by earnings of the hospital. (4) See answer No. 1. (5) All money earned by the hospital, also the grants made by the government, the county council, and the town council, together with monies received from patients, is used, first, for the maintenance of the hospital; second, for extension and improvement; and third, to pay off interest and the bonds. The directors of the hospital would be very pleased to have the membership extended, P. W. Pearson states. "Anyone can join by paying $1 per year, or can

In a certain organization of school girls some of the leaders decided that the customary programs lacked vitality. They thought it would be much better to lead the children through an adventure in dramatics. Without any rehearsals they produced for their own recreation the story of Goldilocks and the Three Bears.

One of the older girls played the role of Goldilocks and another was Mother Bear. A boy living in the house where the meeting was held was captured to act as Father Bear. One of the younger girls, six-year-old Betty, was the Little Wee Bear. Others stood around as trees gently waving their branches in the autumn breeze which blew through the open door. Everyone enjoyed the game immensely.

The leader who conducted the play walked home with Betty. For a mile they improvised plays and discussed what might be done with them. "Next time we have the Three Bears," said Betty. "I want to be Goldilocks." Here was the old ambition to be a star. But here were creative ideas also. "Let's make believe that I'm a fly," said Betty. "I'll be climbing that telephone pole; and you be a duck at the bottom waiting to eat me if I fall down."

There must be some reason for an idea like that. Last week a young lady named Helen visited at Betty's house. When Betty insisted on being told a story, Helen recited for her the old rhyme of the "Toad and the duck." This yarn had made such an impression on the child's mind that she planned to adapt it to dramatic form.

There is a lot of hope in a country where children have imagination. Of course there is always the danger that they will grow up and become matter-of-fact adults like the rest of us. But if they are encouraged to experiment continually with the material at hand they may escape the dull conformity of yes-men. They may pass beyond established forms and strike out to explore the brave new world of the poet's dream. As I write I notice nearby a quotation from Lowell: "New times demand new measures and new men; The world advances and in time outgrows."

The laws that in our fathers' day were best; And doubtless after us some purer scheme Will be shaped out by wiser men than we, Made wiser by the steady growth of truth."

We put children in schools, row on row. A teacher stands up and tells them a lot of things. If they raise any question the doubt is settled by some book which contains the answers. That may be all right for mathematics and elementary science and even the languages. But it creates a dependence on the rules of others. There is no way but to know the answers. That has been education.

We put people in church, row on row. A preacher stands up and tells them a lot of things. They are not supposed to raise any questions even a point of information. They are dependent on the interpretations of others. To differ is heresy. That has been religion.

We put mature children in public meetings, row on row. A politician stands up and tells them a lot of things. They are not supposed to raise any questions. If they differ they must belong to another party; or it is rebellion. That has been politics.

A college principal told his students that he did not know a lot of the answers; we must seek. Arid minister wrote an article asking if we are not we shall find the abundant life in the glorious adventure of service. A great statesman said that the will of the people must be the law of the land; then we must have ideas and the courage to apply them.

Sang To Keep Troops' Chins Up, Was Almost A Dumbbell

Lions Club President Had Interesting Overseas Experience

An interesting fact not generally known is that President Alex. Eves of the Lions club was at one time a member of the Canadian Corps, concert group which became the famous "Dumbbells." It happened this way. When Alex was sent back from the line for those couple of weeks rest which meant so much to the boys, he used to amuse himself and his pals by putting on concerts in the evenings. Alex, still sings in occasional Newmarket concerts and in Trinity choir.

Early in 1918 plans were made for forming several concert parties to keep up the spirits of the troops. A call was sent out for men who could sing, dance or tell a story. Alex's colonel suggested that he volunteer. So he did. Over a hundred men were accepted and they were given a month's schooling in the dramatic arts, under a man since associated with Shea's, Toronto.

They were divided into four concert parties, and Alex was associated with the Plunketts, Ross Hamilton, the lady impersonator, Red Newman of "Oh, It's a Lovely War" fame, and the rest of that famous gang. He became particularly chummy, however, with the head of another of the groups, now in the motion picture business, who persuaded him to make a transfer. So he did.

"And we had a darn good show," said Alex, leaning back to admire the crease he had just put in a pair of trousers. The story was extracted from Alex at his dry-cleaning establishment this week, as a result of a hint contained in last week's Midland Free Press. President Alex, and some of his Lions were visitors to Midland two weeks ago.

W. C. T. U.

The following are some general statements about narcotics published by the National W. C. T. U. at Evanston, Illinois, U. S. A. Since tobacco is a narcotic, and a powerful one, it acts in the main, like other narcotics. Narcotics tend to produce stupor, sleep and insensibility. The narcotics, chloroform, ether and morphine, are employed for this purpose. Tobacco "soothes the nerves" by narcotizing them. "The function of the narcotic is to teach the nervous system to lie." Narcotics impair physical and mental action to a measurable degree, while seeming to stimulate and improve them. Nearly every intelligent person knows this to be true of alcohol. Tests of the same sort have proved it similarly true of tobacco.

Physical strength is diminished as much as 40 per cent in some cases; mental efficiency ten per cent; precision (shooting or pitching a ball) 12 to 30 per cent. have a life membership for $25. These funds are also used for the good of the patients.

There's a shadow in the homes, Many hearts are sad today; It hushes ev'n the laughter Of the children at their play. At its coming want and sorrow Across the threshold creep, And amid their broken idols The mourning mothers weep.

There's an evil in the land, And the kingdom of our Lord Is hindered in its coming By its cruel, ruthless hand. Then rise with one accord And put away the wine-cup That threatens love and home; For God is on His throne.

We are coming to the rescue, We are coming in our youth The homes we build tomorrow, Shall be guarded by the truth.

We are coming to the battle Of purity and right And for a winsome token We wear the ribbon white.

TELLS WHOPPER ABOUT WHOPPER TURNIPS

A bumper turnip crop is reported by Elmer Starr, Bogartown. Mr. Starr, after harvesting them, he has so many. He also reports some "whoppers," many weighing as much as seven pounds each. He also, with a smile, said that he drags a chain behind his wagon to pull some of the big fellows out.

cles) and time-reactions are measurably affected. The heart beat is increased from the normal rate of 72 to 89 beats a minute. So far as known, tested smokers acquire no immunity from these effects and are therefore under "strain" most of the time.

Narcotics arrest development. In tests at Yale University for nine years, it was proved that regular smokers were fifteen months older than non-smokers entering college. In college in 45 months, non-smokers increased in weight ten per cent, height 24 per cent, lung capacity 77 per cent more than regular smokers. "Occasional smokers" gained more than non-smokers and less than non-smokers, thus proving positively that tobacco was the cause of the difference noted.

Narcotics appear to be stimulants, but really are sedatives. The early stimulation comes from increased action of nature's protective forces against the "invader." Reaction follows.

It is clear that whatever soothing and pleasing effects a tobacco-user receives come from narcotizing the nervous system, "teaching it to lie." The penalty may be long-deferred but it is certain.

Why is not tobacco included in the wide-spread movement against narcotics? Presumably through general ignorance that it is a narcotic. Largely also, through the universal effect of "customs" which blinds us to the facts.

ATTENDED SCHOOL HERE DIES IN TORONTO

Charlotte Miller, widow of the late Lieut.-Col. John William Selby, died in Toronto on Nov. 2, in her 82nd year.

It is believed that this lady, a daughter of the late Henry Harrison of Newmarket, was an old-time public school pupil of this town and resided in the home that the late Henry Harrison built on Main St. north, just south of the Methodist parsonage of today.

Henry Harrison was the senior partner of the firm of Burk and Harrison, who carried on a general mercantile business in the store now occupied by Smith's Hardware.
